

Canadians Have Captured 1100

Severe Losses Make Enemy Pause; No More Attacks in Ypres Area

On North Wing French After Checking Germans Made Further Gains Near Steenbeke River—In Addition To 1,800 Men Allies Have Captured 24 Guns—Between Loos And Lens Canadians Are Plugging Away Towards Coal City—Have Consolidated Recent Gains—Russians And Rumanians Stubbornly Resisting.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Aug. 17.—Their counter attacks having failed with severe losses, the Germans in the Ypres area of the western front have not resumed attempts to capture the ground lost to the Anglo-French troops on Thursday.

On the northern wing of the Ypres front, the French, after repulsing heavy German counter attacks, on Friday made further gains near the Steenbeke River.

Elsewhere on this front, the latest report from Field Marshal Haig says there has been no change.

In addition to their bag of more than 1,800 prisoners, the allied forces captured 24 guns from the Teutons.

German Claims
While admitting an allied gain along the Yser canal and near Bixchoote, where the French advanced in claims officially that most of the British attacks were repulsed and that Langhemarck is still in German hands. This claim is denied officially in London, which says that the British did not only Langhemarck, but also round beyond the village. London also officially denied that the fighting was twenty miles long, as Berlin declares. Field Marshal Haig on Thursday reported the fighting front as being about 10 miles long.

The German general staff reports Thursday's fighting as a "full victory" for the Teutons, although admitting some reverses and claiming no gains. The German official statement says that the British did not only Langhemarck, but also round beyond the village. London also officially denied that the fighting was twenty miles long, as Berlin declares. Field Marshal Haig on Thursday reported the fighting front as being about 10 miles long.

Canadians Plugging Away
Between Loos and Lens the Canadians are plugging away toward the capture of the last-named place. They have consolidated and made secure their recent gains and have made further progress west of Lens. The number of prisoners taken here by the Canadians is not stated, but it is not stated that the French positions along the Aisne are invulnerable, and the latest attacks have failed, as they all have previously done. One German effort was on a front of more than a mile in the region of the Calonne Plateau. It was stopped by the British artillery. The French also checked a German attack east of Arras.

Repulsed Again
The crown prince took the initiative on the right bank of the Meuse, but his attacks were broken up with heavy losses.

The Austro-German offensive in southwestern Moldavia apparently is showing no signs of abating. The resistance of the Russians and Rumanians. The latter are still fighting desperately in the areas of Fokshani and the Sereth, and Field Marshal von Mackensen has ordered further appreciable progress.

Petrograd reports the repulse of several attacks in this area.

French Make Progress
LONDON, Aug. 17.—French troops in the Ypres area have progressed in the neighborhood of the River Steenbeke. The British portion of this front, according to the official report from British headquarters in France tonight, there has been no change and the Germans have ceased their counter-attack.

The number of prisoners taken by the Canadians in the Loos-Lens sector has now reached a total of 1,120. The Canadians have organized and made secure the positions captured by them in previous operations. One German effort was on a front of more than a mile in the region of the Calonne Plateau. It was stopped by the British artillery. The French also checked a German attack east of Arras.

On the Loos battlefield we have secured the position captured by us yesterday afternoon and have gained further ground west of Lens. The number of prisoners taken in this area since the commencement of our operations totals 1,120, including 23 officers.

Nests of Resistance
ARRAS, Aug. 17.—The Germans failed to renew their counter attack against the French troops in the Ypres area, who spent the day organizing the positions they had captured in the region of Bixchoote, wiping out with their artillery the small positions still held by the Germans. The official communication issued tonight. The communication follows:

In Belgium the Germans made no further attempt in the course of the day. Our troops are organizing the ground we captured to the north and east of Bixchoote, from Dreirachten, to the Yser.

Coal Delivery Is Handicapped By Lack of Transport
Says Everything Possible Is Being Done By Government And The U. S.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—In the house this afternoon Sir George Foster, replying to E. Knowles, said it would not be possible to make any definite statement on the supply of coal for the west. There was an unprecedented call for coal, he said, and the forwarding of it to the west was handicapped by the lack of railway transport from the mines to lake ports. All he could say was that everything possible was being done by the United States government and the Canadian government to deal with the situation.

Mr. Knowles wanted the minister to state definitely what was being done. Sir George replied that it would take too much time to go into details. He could only repeat that every possible effort was being made to deal with the situation.

WINNIPEG SOLDIER ESCAPES FROM HUNS
One Of The Original "Little Black Devils"—At Ypres 1915.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Aug. 17.—(C. A. P.)—After two years of captivity (1915-1917) a soldier, belonging to Winnipeg, has reached England from Germany. He was one of the original "Little Black Devils" and was taken prisoner at Ypres in 1915. Most of the time he spent in a prison, where he escaped with two men of the Black Watch. Their trek of eighty miles to the Dutch frontier took eight days, traveling only at night.

Export of Flour to United States Prohibited for the Wheat Period

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—An order in council has been passed at the instance of the food controller for Canada prohibiting the export of Canadian flour to the United States for the period for which the export of Canadian wheat to the United States has been prohibited, subject to the provision that the food controller for Canada may issue licenses permitting the export of flour in proper cases for such export as he deems necessary and expedient. This action has been taken owing to the situation which has been developed since the board of grain supervisors for Canada set a minimum price for Number 1 Northern wheat of $2.40 per bushel, Port William, on Aug. 1, to cover the balance of the old crop. While the price was fixed in Canada, in Minneapolis it has since reached $3.19 for Number 1 Northern spring wheat, with a corresponding increase in the price of

INCOME TAX BILL READ A THIRD TIME

Liberals Advocated Higher Scale For Salaries Over $6,000.

PROPOSITION WAS RULED OUT OF ORDER

Amendments By Finance Minister To C.N.R. Measure.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—Third reading of the income tax bill on the eve of the adjournment of the house tonight. When the third reading was moved at the afternoon session, Fred Pardee, chief Liberal whip, presented an amendment calling for a decided increase in the scale of income taxation on all salaries in excess of $6,000 per annum. The proposal was vigorously debated until six o'clock.

When the house resumed after the dinner hour, the amendment was ruled out of order by Mr. Speaker Rhodes who quoted the rule which does not permit an amendment being moved proposing the levying of a tax upon people by anyone but a minister with the approval of the crown.

With the amendment disposed of the debate continued on the main motion, opposition members declaring that insofar as the rich are concerned, the taxation proposed was not such as to call for any real measure of sacrifice.

During the afternoon further consideration was given in committee to the Canadian Northern Railway bill but no headway was made.

Sir Thomas White gave notice of a number of amendments which will come under review when the house resumed debate on the bill. One amendment provides that not more than twenty-five million dollars may be spent to meet obligations arising out of the proposed agreement of the Canadian Northern Railway without a vote of parliament.

Another amendment strikes out clause four, which provides for paying MacKenzie and Mann in securities as well as in cash. The new amendment provides for cash payments.

ROB CATHEDRAL, HUNS THEN SET CHURCH ON FIRE

St. Quentin Historic Edifice Now In Ruins—Nothing But Walls Remain.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, Aug. 16.—Fire in the St. Quentin Cathedral was kindled about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night by sentinels in a French trench outside of St. Quentin. Soon the entire structure was in flames and the fire spread to the town and surrounding country until 2 o'clock in the morning. As it died down it was seen that the steep roof had fallen in. Everything but the walls must be destroyed. Prisoners say the town lately has been pillaged by officers and men who are sending many stolen valuables to Germany.

"It is impossible at this time to determine the origin of the fire," telegraphs a Havas correspondent. "The Germans cannot lay it to our shells for St. Quentin is so near our lines that not a single French projectile has fallen into the city. The high towers of the cathedral gave the Germans an observation point unique in the region. We are not sure, however, what motives induced them to destroy it. Through field glasses it could be seen the next afternoon that the entire superstructure was gone."

COMPENSATION TO LICENSE HOLDERS AN ISSUE IN B. C.

Conference Between Lt. Governor And Premier—Premier Gives Indefinite Answer.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 17.—What action, if any, the government will take toward appointing a committee to investigate the question of the propriety or otherwise of compensation being paid to license-holders whose business will abruptly cease on October 1 next, as stipulated in the prohibition act passed by the legislature just before proroguing today, is something upon which Premier Brewster gave an indefinite answer when the query was put to him by R. H. Pooley, Esquire, just before the third reading of the bill.

It is known that the prohibitionists are strongly averse to any measure of compensation, but following the lengthy conference between the Lieutenant Governor and the premier, before the former entered the legislative chamber to give assent to the bill, gossip was rife as to the possibility of some such compensation understanding having been arrived at. Had the bill been approved by referendum, compensation would have been an issue. As the present bill merely makes effective the old, those favoring compensation claim the promise of the former premier is binding on the present government.

RESTING EASILY
It was learned on inquiry early this morning at the general hospital that Supt. J. D. Murray, who was seriously hurt in the accident on the A. & G. W. railway, was resting easily. It was stated that he was not yet fully recovered consciousness.

B. C. PROHIBITION BILL IS CARRIED

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 17.—The prohibition bill passed at 3:30 this afternoon. Mr. Pooley, after announcing that the question of compensation was under consideration, and if a word was said it would be under the public inquiries act. The bill goes into effect October 1. The house prorogued at 4 o'clock.

LIGHTNING PUTS THE CITY IN DARKNESS

Current Off From 10 Minutes To Three Hours—Cable Punctured.

The electric lights were out of business last night from periods ranging from 10 minutes to three hours, owing to a puncture in the main cable at the power house caused by lightning.

A heavy thunderstorm passed over the city between 8 and 9 o'clock and probably some of the arresters failed to work.

Superintendent Ormsby was personally in charge of the repair work with extra men on duty and by 11 o'clock all circuits in the city, with one exception, were again in operation.

In the meantime candles were in active demand in the darkened regions and there was a general inquiry as to the likelihood of the city's putting in some sort of an emergency gas supply against like emergencies.

PERSONATION IS PROVED BEYOND DOUBT; REPORT

Finding Of Royal Commission On So-Called "Plugging" Scandal At Vancouver.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 17.—Finding that it is "Proved beyond any doubt that an elaborate and expensive scheme of personation was adopted on behalf of M. A. MacDonald, the Liberal candidate," the report of the royal commission which recently investigated into the so-called "Plugging" scandal at the Vancouver by-election in February, 1916, when Mr. MacDonald defeated Mr. C. E. Tisdall, the Conservative candidate, was presented to the legislature this afternoon just before the house prorogued.

The report goes on to state that there was no evidence adduced other than the so-called confession of John T. Scott showing that Mr. MacDonald had any knowledge of or connection with the illegal practices which were engineered by Scott. But it also points out that Scott was in charge of a staff of workers and paid out of a fund controlled by M. A. MacDonald and A. M. Pound and that he was fully recognized as in charge of an important portion of the campaign though apparently having none of the "legitimate" funds at his disposal.

BRITISH DENY STATEMENT OF GERMANS

Langemarck Not Only Held But Ground North Of The Position.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
LONDON, Aug. 17.—The official press bureau denies that the Germans had recaptured Langhemarck, Belgium.

Concerning the report in the German official communication that the forces of Crown Prince Rupprecht had taken the town, which was captured by the British Thursday, the official press bureau this evening issued the following communication:

"The German wireless official communication contains a series of misstatements. The right flank of the allied attack of Thursday was on the Ypres-Menin Road. There was no attack between this road and the River Lys. The enemy, therefore, never doubled the length of the front of attack."

"The enemy has not recovered Langhemarck, nor did he make any attempt to do so. A British staff officer reported at 6 p.m. today that he had just returned from Langhemarck, where he had been for five hours."

"The British troops hold not only Langhemarck, but a considerable length of the German offensive position 500 yards north of Langhemarck."

"The reference to Poelkappelle obviously is intended to give the impression that the British failed to reach some imaginary distant objective, just as in the German official statement Thursday it was implied that the British objective on the Lens front was Vendin-Le-Viel. It was sufficient to state that the British troops gained all their objectives not only north of Lens on Wednesday, but also from St. Julien northwards on Thursday."

The statement also points out that the German claim that the attack on Wednesday was made with four Canadian divisions was an exaggeration.

OPPOSITION ON PROBE FOR C.N.R. BOND HOLDERS

Trying To Discover Who Owns Majority Of Stock.

SOME VERY DIRECT QUERIES IN HOUSE

White Believes Mackenzie And Mann Control 51 Per Cent.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
OTTAWA, Aug. 17.—After the recess the house went into committee on the C. N. R. bill.

Hon. Charles Murphy desired to know the names of the men who owned the stock on the pledge and of bonds. He wished to recall the instance which had brought the finance minister into public life. In 1911 he, with seventeen other gentlemen of Toronto, had signed a manifesto against reciprocity. They included, however, Sir Edmund Walker, of the Bank of Commerce, Messrs. Blakey, Mathews, Gordon, Lash, Gourlay, Somers, Christie, Abbott, Eaton and the present minister of finance. He would like to know if any of these gentlemen held any of the stock or were pledgees of it. He would also like to know if Sir Clifford Sifton was an owner or pledgee of any of the bonds. Sir Thomas White declared that Mr. Murphy had considered ingeniously to link up a letter signed by eighteen Liberals of Toronto against reciprocity in 1911 with the present legislation. As a matter of his own knowledge he did not know who the shareholders or bondholders of the Canadian Northern were, though he believed that Mackenzie & Mann owned 51 per cent of the stock. It would surprise him if any of the men mentioned owned bonds.

What About Mr. Lash?
Mr. Murphy asked, what about Mr. Lash?

Sir Thomas admitted that he was vice-president of the company.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux in a vehement speech declared that the minister of finance should give the names of the shareholders and bondholders with whom the government proposed to form a wire be sealed. He said that the government was controlled by the Canadian Northern. He would not say this was true, but he suspected that it might be true. It was stated that the C. N. R. interests boasted that they could get control of three ministers and of parliament.

"They got a guarantee of bonds from the late government," commented Mr. Melhien.

The Megaphone
"Let the megaphone of Mackenzie and Mann keep quiet for a few minutes," replied Mr. Lemieux, going on to say that it was stated in the streets and in the clubrooms that Sir Clifford Sifton is interested in C. N. R. stocks to the extent of $750,000. This, he said, might explain why some people want to form a wire be sealed.

The government should tell the public frankly who the bondholders, shareholders and pledgees are. Sir Thomas White asserted that Mr. Lemieux had been indulging in romances. He had mentioned a street corner gossip in support of his contention.

"The press is gagged," interjected Mr. Lemieux.

"I do not believe there is enough money in Canada to gag the press," the minister replied.

Blames Former Government
Sir Thomas asserted the situation was one for which the former government was entirely responsible.

The signing of a man in 1911 had nothing to do with it.

"If the minister will tell us where the stock and bonds of the C. N. R. are, it will answer our question," remarked Hon. Charles Murphy.

Sir Thomas said that while he believed that Mackenzie and Mann controlled 51 per cent of the stock not in the possession of the government, he did not know where the stock was. He held the holders of the remaining nine per cent, which goes to make up the 60 per cent involved in the transaction. As to the bondholders it would not be possible for the government to know the holders of the bonds. They might number 10,000, many of them in Great Britain. The government, he said, was not buying the stock for the sake of making the purchase, but the save the railway.

IN FAIR STAND-UP, HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING CANADIANS BEAT OFF TWO MORE COUNTER ATTACKS

Moment Assault Was Launched Prussian Guards Were Assembling To Attack Hill 70—Came Under Our Barrage And Were Shattered—Historic Battle Ground Now In Undisputed Possession Of Canadian Incomparable Infantry.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Friday, Aug. 17. (Via London).—In fair stand-up, hand-to-hand fighting on the eastern slope of Hill 70, last night our men beat off two more counter attacks, in which the last available battalions of the fourth Prussian Guard Division were broken and destroyed as a fighting force.

In Thursday night's dispatch the overseas correspondent told of the impetuous charge by which our line was on Thursday afternoon pushed forward east of Hill 70. Prisoners stated that at the very moment when our assault was launched the Guards were driven in and for the time the enemy secured possession of our advanced line. At nine o'clock another and more serious assault was undertaken against our main line in the newly-acquired ground, accompanied by "heavy heavy" shelling. It failed utterly, and our men once more went forward on the heels of the enemy and re-established their outposts on the former advanced line, which thus remained in our possession after five hours of the most determined fighting experienced by the veteran troops of the original expeditionary force, who took part.

By last midnight affairs had quieted down and this morning Hill 70 was an extinct volcano, with our incomparable infantry in undisputed occupation.

Finally Won Objectives.
The struggle was renewed on that part of the front south of St. Laurent at four o'clock this morning, when an Ontario battalion went forward to attack a strong position along the railway embankment, which now forms the boundary of the enemy line west of Lens. Strong opposition was encountered. After bombing their way into a nest of trenches our men were themselves bombed out. More troops were put in, and the area of the attack was extended to the north by the participation of another battalion. For several hours the struggle went on, and the Canadian infantry won their objectives, which were three trenches from which observation could be secured upon the recently won front.

The feature of today's struggle was a freer use of airplanes by the enemy in support of his infantry. Taking a leaf out of our book the German air men flew low over the trenches, and engaged the occupants with their machine guns. There were many aerial fights between these enemy planes and ours.

The number of prisoners, wounded and unwounded, now totals well over a thousand. The enemy's killed and wounded must number at least five times as many.

Three enemy divisions, the Seventh and Eleventh reserve, and the Fourth Guards, have ceased to have any fighting value as the result of their great losses.

An Old Hun Trick
With the object of excusing their failure to hold ground of such vital importance in the defense of Lens, General von Ludendorff, in the German official statement, places the Canadian objective as Vettin-Le-Viel, four kilometers in from the recent German front line, and then shows that this objective was not attained, but that the advance only reached the third trench of the enemy's first line. This is an old trick of the German staff. An imaginary goal is indicated, and it is announced with great impressiveness that the goal was not reached.

The people of Canada may rest assured that the operation was carried out practically as planned, and that the German report is more than usually mendacious.

The battle which took part in the battle got into touch with headquarters tales of the fighting, both grave and gay, drift back. One battalion mourns a very gallant young officer, a Quebecer, who was wounded in the face, and after having his wound dressed up insisted on going on with his men. He had advanced only a hundred feet further when he was hit and fell dead at the head of his company.

CHINA TAKING INDEPENDENT ACTION IN WAR

No Mention In Official Documents Of Republic's Association With Entente.

(By Morning Bulletin Leased Wire)
PEKIN, Aug. 14.—(Delayed).—China's declaration of war on Germany and Austria-Hungary, beginning at 10 a.m. today, and the other documents relating to the conflict do not mention the association of the Chinese republic with the entente powers. They indicate that China's action will be entirely independent.

The declaration of war aroused little excitement.

The Chinese minister to China took over the arms of the Austrian guard. The doors of the Deutsche Asiatische bank have been sealed. Chinese troops at Tientsin took over the Austrian concession and the German bank and German barracks there without incident.

He had mentioned a street corner gossip in support of his contention.

WILL SPEND $1,500,000 IN NEXT 18 MONTHS; EDMONTON POWER CO. GOING AHEAD AT ROCKY RAPIDS

W. Bowness, Representative Of The Company, Denies Rumor That Franchise Will Be Abandoned—Work To Be Started On Railway In The Fall—Will Need Army Of Laborers.

"You can say that all stories that are going to abandon our franchise are false in every particular," was the statement of E. W. Bowness, Edmonton, representative of the Edmonton Power company, who returned today from a six weeks' visit to Eastern cities.

Immediately upon his return Mr. Bowness was met by the persistent reports that have been current to the effect that all work had been stopped at Rocky Rapids and that the company had been unable to finance the three million dollar undertaking whereby they are to furnish hydro electric power to Edmonton as well as build a railway to the southward to their dam site eighty miles up the Saskatchewan river.

"You can further say," Mr. Bowness said, "that we are going to start work on the railway this fall. We hope to spend a million and a half dollars within the next eighteen months."

The money is already available, he continued, and we don't have to sell any bonds to secure it.

He further said that the only delay was being caused by the shortage of men.

"We can employ every capable man that we can secure," he asserted in speaking of the labor situation.

Asked regarding the origin of the rumors that have been current for some weeks, the hydro engineer blamed them on a contractor whom he said had been unable to fulfill his agreement.

Mr. Bowness spent some weeks in American cities and says the United States is entering enthusiastically into the war. There is a feeling that it will be necessary to bring the struggle to a successful end and the people are taking hold with that object in view.

Everywhere there are signs of military activity and many things are being done about which little or nothing is heard in Canada.

STORM KEEPS CITY COUNCIL FROM BUSINESS

Consideration Of Revised Estimates And Striking Of Mill Rate Postponed.

Owing to the storm last night the city council was unable to take action on the revised estimates and to strike the mill rate for the tax levy. Hardly had the business been begun when the light went out. After sitting for some time, a motion to adjourn was made and carried. The members were dispersing when the light came on. It was decided to make another start, and the members who had left the building were recalled. On account of the resolution to adjourn having been passed, however, no business could be carried through, and the whole of the evening was devoted to discussing the estimates without any formal adoption. This will be done when council meets again on Tuesday evening next.

City operation.

Alderman Bellamy in bringing some suggestions before the council said:

"It is evident to all citizens who have seriously considered the financial position of the city that it is necessary to supplement its increased tax collection, and as this is a question that requires very serious and careful consideration, also the co-operation of all different businesses likely to be affected thereby, we therefore are of opinion that it is desirable that the council request those representing the different lines of business in the city to call together all those engaged in the same line of business and appoint delegates to consist of one representative from each line of business and the council in order that such taxation be as just and fairly distributed as possible. We are of the opinion that this matter should be proceeded with at once."

Eventually it was decided that the suggestion should go as notice of motion.

Leniency to Defaulters.

The other matter brought forward by Ald. Bellamy had reference to leniency being extended to tax defaulters who really were making an endeavor to meet their liabilities in this direction. Ald. Bellamy's suggestions not only included the suspension of sinking fund payments during the time of stress as a means of relief, but chiefly that arrangements should be made whereby delinquent tax-payers could pay off their liabilities on the installment plan. The idea was to give property owners when paying the current year's taxes, would be allowed to pay 25 per cent of the arrears against them and that this installment system go on until all the arrears were met.

As before mentioned the revised departmental estimates for the year were before council. The figures are given below in comparison with the actual 1916 expenditure.

Economize the Order.

There was a lot of discussion devoted to the various departments, the main object being to economize.

As Ald. Wilson pointed out, the money is down to hard pan now, and have to consider what we can save for the city and what we cannot.

Some of the suggestions were that the engineer's department be reduced to 10 per cent, and this will be finally decided on Tuesday. The superintendent of the water department will then be invited to attend council.

Ald. Kinney was of opinion that now is the time when something should be done to reduce the salaries of Commissioner Harrison and the city clerk.

The money used to pay for more $60 per month men to help with the street cleaning and so away some of the present inconvenience suffered by the public.

Ald. Kinney said that he objected to laborers being paid only 30 cents per hour.

Ald. Phaeasay and Ald. Bellamy raised the point of equipment being taken unnecessarily to fires and the expense of operation and it was generally conceded that the fire chief should be the judge of what was necessary to be sent out.

Some of the aldermen thought that the fire department's office on both sides of the river was a luxury and that the building inspector was too expensive a man to be used for collecting rates.

Mayor Henry pointed out that it was necessary to maintain this office. The building permits issued this year came to $170,000.

Superintendent Dan Alton, who was present, went through the estimates of the streets and scavenging department, which he said had been "cut to the bone," and showed a reduction of $1,000.

Ald. Phaeasay said that he had heard it said that there were 16 foremen in the streets department, and that neither more than three men under them.

Superintendent Alton explained, to the satisfaction of council, his system of working the labor in the department, and showed that there were some eight or nine foremen controlling districts into which the city was divided. Most of these men worked themselves.

R. M. AMBULANCE CORPS.

There was a representative attendance at Wednesday's drill, when Sgt. S. C. H. Turner gave a further lecture on ambulance field work, by special request of the men. The R. M. ambulance corps is continuing the Wednesday evening drills during August. All members and fresh men wishing to be enrolled are requested to attend at 8 o'clock in the city market building on 101st street.

FIRE IN POOL ROOM.

A brisk fire, starting from a burning chimney, called the department to the Palace pool room and barber shop, on 101st street, at 1 a.m. today. The chemical extinguished the blaze with slight damage.

SOME SIDELIGHTS ON THE BIG CONVENTION

That the Liberal convention in Winnipeg last week has given great impetus to the forward movement toward securing better government for Canada and more efficient prosecution of the war on the part of the Dominion is the general opinion of the delegates from Edmonton. Farmers and business men viewed it from different aspects, but there was the general aim of all—to win the war by driving from power a government that has been a friend to the profiteers and Big Business and replacing it by one that will serve the great mass of the people.

Here are the opinions of a few of the prominent men from this part of the province who were in attendance:

ALEX. E. MAY

Alex. E. May, Liberal candidate for the federal constituency of East Edmonton—The Western Liberal convention which convened in Winnipeg on August 7th and 8th was of much greater magnitude than was expected by our friends in Manitoba. The delegates from Alberta have been labelled by certain newspapers as being a machine prepared delegation. This is unfair and untrue, as delegates were elected in the usual way and every man paid his own expenses. Some Liberals of Manitoba, apparently under impression that the convention would not be largely attended, and would not be of such national importance as it proved to be, had evidently adopted the Free Press "Coalition with Borden" platform, and some Manitoba Liberals had stated from the public platform that Sir Wilfrid Laurier could no longer lead the Western Liberals.

It is unnecessary to state that the delegates from Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia did not see with them on this question. We were not prepared to assume even a portion of the responsibility of Sir Robert Borden's machine, and we did not believe it was in the best interests of Canada that attention should be drawn away from the real issue and the support of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his white-washed following.

Alberta delegates did believe, however, that that grand old statesman, the Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, should still lead the Western Liberals, and that in the present crisis he was the only man in Canada who could save the country from internal trouble. During his thirty years of leadership he has consistently stood out for the unity of the different races in Canada and that is the position which he occupies today. Alberta delegates were aware that Sir Clifford Sifton, who controls the Free Press, is today as he was in 1911, the enemy of the Liberal movement. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the most ardent supporter of Sir Robert Borden and his proposed coalition cabinet. The Alberta delegates were aware that Mr. J. G. Turner, who moved the amendment to the win-the-war resolution, was closely connected with Sir Clifford Sifton by relationship, which no doubt accounts for his endorsement of Sir Clifford's attitude.

D. W. WARNER

D. W. Warner, Liberal candidate for the federal constituency of Battle River—The impression made upon me by the sincerity of the delegates for better conditions throughout Canada, rather than party interests. There was a sincere determination to do our duty as we see it in the present crisis. The resolutions beyond doubt have called for more advanced legislation than any other political demands that I know of. The differences of opinion were taken in good part by all concerned, with very few exceptions.

I have nothing but praise for the delegates attending the convention. Their actions were unanimous from spontaneous reasons rather than from the idea of lining up for political purposes. The resolutions show the convention in mind the Dominion council of agriculture's demands. All these that were of immediate importance in Canada were of service to Canada in the way or the other in the resolutions passed. It was a surprise to me to note how thoroughly the views of the delegates were embodied in the resolutions. The advanced demands made from time to time by the organized farmers of the west, and through the lead taken by this convention, seem to me to be the best way to unite the Canadian effort toward solving our tremendously important problems from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The view the war resolution as the most appropriate and strongest pronouncement yet issued on that paramount problem.

MEN ARE LEAVING McMURRAY FOR HARVEST FIELDS

Three Car Loads Of Oil Well Drilling Machinery For North.

PORT McMURRAY, Alta., Aug. 17.—Last week eight harvesters left for the fields and ten more left this week. Between the two weeks the town is cleaned out of the able-bodied men.

Three cars of oil well drilling machinery, consisting of a portable engine, a pump, and a hoist, were shipped by the W. & A. Railway company on section 33. Drilling commences at once.

Messrs. Jamieson, McManis and Lindsay left for the oil fields on a special train here last week. Mr. Annis, Dr. Hankinson and Mr. McQueen, also of Edmonton, passed through here on the same train.

Rev. Fr. Thérin is on a business trip to McMurray, where several days were spent. Returning they departed for Edmonton today.

R. H. Knight, who is staying in town, is on a business trip to McMurray, where a business trip to McMurray this week.

ST. PAUL DE METIS

A. C. Lessard, manager of the Banque de Hochelaga, has returned to the village after an extended visit to the east.

The body of Miss Ducharme, drowned in Lake Therien, has been forwarded to Edmonton for interment.

Our annual fair opens on September 5th.

Harvesting is now the all important topic. It will be general next week. The prospects are better than we counted upon a short time back.

Rev. Fr. Thérin is on a business trip to McMurray, where a business trip to McMurray this week.

In the write-up of our village, you traced the blame for the non-completion of the railway and the light plant.

Now that the company are negotiating its transfer to the Dominion would be a good time for our citizens to get busy and get the position before the cabinet in its true light.

ESKIMO IS FOUND NOT GUILTY BY JURY AFTER DELIBERATING ON CASE FOR ABOUT AN HOUR

Chief Justice Harvey Charged In Favor Of Verdict Of Acquittal—"I Have No Hesitation In Saying That I Would Consider It A Crime If This Man Were Executed," He Told Jury.

"Not guilty." This was the verdict brought in at 1.15 Friday afternoon by the jury in the case of the Eskimo Sinnisiak, charged with the murder of Father Rouvère, Oblate priest at Bloody Fall in 1913.

The jurors had been out for about an hour. When it was understood among the crowd that thronged the halls waiting for the verdict that the jury was about to return, there was a scurrying for the court room from all parts of the building.

Immediately the words of the foreman had been pronounced the verdict was conveyed to Sinnisiak through the interpreter "Patsy" Klengenberg.

He trembled slightly and a peculiar look came over his face. He was helped from the box and led to a waiting carriage outside to be taken to the mounted police barracks.

He will remain here until the conclusion of the trial of his companion Ulukuk, who will face trial Tuesday morning on a charge of murdering the other priest who figured in the tragedy, Father Leroux.

The jurors empanelled are requested by the sheriff to appear ready to offer their services on Tuesday morning.

"I have no hesitation in saying that I would consider it a crime if this man were executed," the chief justice charged the jury to the jury featured the charge from the bench at the close of argument in the four days murder trial here. The case was characterized by both solicitors for the crown and the defense as the strangest trial has ever taken place on the continent.

The chief justice also intimated to the jury that he had no fear in bringing in a verdict of guilty, as he did not have any doubt but that the governor general of Canada would accept the recommendation that the full penalty be not imposed. At the conclusion of the charge J. E. Wallbridge, the Crown prosecutor, in his address to the jury, said that it was unfair to the jury that they might bring in a guilty verdict and that it would not result in the death of the accused. Chief Justice Harvey considered the objection but did not recall the jury.

Mr. Wallbridge, in his address, which lasted for more than an hour, told the jury that they were sitting as arbiters in one of the most peculiar criminal cases on record. "Sinnisiak sits in his box; he sees with his eyes what is taking place, but he does not understand it. He cannot understand what we are doing. It is a great question whether a man of a stone-age tribe, a man who hunts for his food, who has a common sense have his deeds judged by the standards of modern civilization. The jury must decide whether or not it is possible to have a trial by his peers? In my opinion, the answer is yes. We must not look at the point of view of the prisoner."

Passages from St. Augustine's book, "My Life With the Eskimo," were read to the jury. The book, which is a history of the Eskimo tribes, was a member. Sinnisiak was not a descendant of a stone-age race. He was a stone-age man himself, but he was a modern man. He had appeared in the newspapers and had been taken at Peace River. The jury must decide whether or not it is possible to have a trial by his peers? In my opinion, the answer is yes. We must not look at the point of view of the prisoner."

Two Edmonton men are named in the casualty list today. Pte. W. Yates, 11444 80th avenue, previously missing is now stated to have been killed in action.

Pte. R. G. McKennie is reported to have died of cancer. His action to these there are four others who enlisted in local units, but whose next of kin are in the old country. They are:

LIEUT. M. ARNOTT KILLED IN ACTION

Was Formerly Employed As a Civil Engineer on the E. & B. C. Railway.

Word has been received in the city of the death in France of Lieut. Montgomery Arnett, who was formerly in the employ of the E. & B. C. R. C. as a civil engineer. His wife is now residing at Lamont. The notice of his being killed in action was given out a few days ago as Lieut. Montgomery, but later investigation showed that the error had been made in the casualty office at Ottawa.

Lieut. Arnett trained during the whole of one summer at Sarcee camp with the Edmonton Highlanders. Shortly before going overseas he was married to Miss McLean, of Lamont, a well-known member of the teaching staff in the city of Edmonton. Lieut. Arnett enlisted at the outbreak of hostilities in the Edmonton battalion, going overseas as a private. He was invalided home, and after getting better was given a commission in Col. Craig's battalion, leaving Sarcee camp last summer for overseas.

KORNILOFF PREDICTS RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE

Petrograd, Aug. 17.—Lieut.-General Korniloff, the commander in chief, in an interview today, said that in consequence of the strenuous measures taken the moral fighting character of the Russian army had been considerably strengthened. He hoped for a complete regeneration soon.

The general predicted operations on a large scale on the Roumanian front and elsewhere, especially in the north where he indicated a possible possibility of combined land and sea actions. He expressed the opinion that another winter campaign was inevitable.

Operate Street Cars on Zone Plan Where Fares Pay for Long Ride

Commissioner Harrison Will Ask City Council to Forward Application to Legislature Providing For This Change in Rates.

Commissioner Harrison is asking city council that an application be made to the legislature for permission to operate the street railway under the "zone" system. This system, which is the one in operation in the majority of European cities, has previously been suggested in Edmonton, although this is the first time any definite proposition has been made. It means that passengers will pay for the distance travelled and intended to cut out the long hauls over unprofitable distances whereby a passenger can travel from one end of the city to the other for a five cent piece.

The request is being made at this time because of the decision that any charter amendments required at the next session should be put in shape as early as possible.

It would not be necessary to make the application to introduce the system, save for the reason that the amalgamation agreement specifies that the fare between Edmonton and the city shall be, at that time $1.00, shall be five cents.

MEATLESS DAY SUITS CAFES SO THEY SAY

As Money On These Orders Than On Other Kinds Of Food.

Restaurant men of Edmonton are not minded at being ordered to conform with the new food regulations passed by order of council. This is the way one restaurant proprietor explained the situation on Friday morning.

"We make less profit on a meat order than on anything else we serve. When the public order eating so much meat, it naturally turns to something else, and we serve more articles on which we make a fair profit. The present profit on meat, in spite of what are considered high prices, is very low. We're losing money until the long hauls of the Canada Gazette are expected to arrive in the city. Then we'll know just what we stand and the exact nature of the provisions of the order in council."

Other restaurant men spoken to agreed that there would be an arrangement arrived at by the end of the week, and that the new food regulations would be observed by the end of the week.

The city police department will have charge of enforcing the new regulations. It is the police department that assumes the responsibility for the carrying out of orders in council respecting war measures.

The Hudson's Bay company displayed a large sign Friday morning announcing "Meatless Day" in strict accord with the new provisions.

Ottawa, Aug. 17.—A bulletin issued last night from the controller's office contained the following:

"Tomorrow (Friday) is the first day upon which beef and bacon may not be served in hotels and other public places under the new regulations of the food controller. From tomorrow onward the regulations as published in the Canadian Gazette are breaking the hearts of the well as disregarding the patriotic duty."

COTTAGE BURNED BY STOVE EXPLOSION

Explosion of an oil stove started a fire Friday evening, which almost completely demolished a one-story cottage occupied by Mrs. M. J. J. at 11335 126th street. The department was promptly on the spot but when they got there they found that the flames were in complete possession of the building. The loss may be about $500.

Will Be Put Up At Auction At 9:15 O'Clock This Evening.

Large and deeply interested crowds visited the Horticultural Society's show in the tents on Jasper avenue on 104th street yesterday afternoon and evening. Several visitors from Vancouver greatly admired the beautiful display of flowers and the fine assortment of garden produce. They had no idea that Edmonton could produce anything so good. Had it not been for the hail it would have been even better.

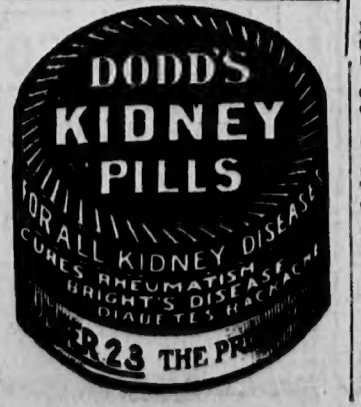

The society is still adding another feature to its arrangements for a successful exhibition. Arrangements are being made by the secretary to get the exhibitors of the flowers (which include many cases are being renewed on Saturday), vegetables and pot plants to donate them on behalf of the Red Cross.

This feature of the show should certainly appeal to the people as lovers of flowers will not only be able to purchase the exquisite blooms and vegetables, etc., but at the same time be helping on the work of the Red Cross. The exhibits will be put up for auction at 9:15 o'clock p.m. Saturday, and the proceeds will all be handed over to the Red Cross.

How can mint be put up for winter use?
To preserve mint for winter use, wash it in cold water and put in a wide-necked bottle. Cover with vinegar and place in an airtight lid on the bottle; tissue paper dipped in the vinegar and eggs good for use, add a little more vinegar and sugar to taste. This is better than drying the mint.

Why do vegetables with a large protein content, such as corn, beans, peas or squash, require a longer period for thorough sterilization?
Vegetables with a large protein content require a longer period for sterilization because the protein is a favorable medium for the growth of bacteria.

Delicacies for the Connoisseur
To the Editor of Woman's Page:
Dear Madam—Can you tell me of some dainty dishes for a sick person who is convalescing? She is able to eat most things, but has little appetite for the regular table fare.

CONSTANT READER.
An important thing to observe when preparing food for invalids is to make the tray as dainty as possible. Pretty china and glassware, fresh linen and a few flowers will make the food more appetizing. Here are several recipes which will appeal to your patient.

Scraped beef cakes: Use steak from the upper part of the round and with a knife scrape the pulp from the fibre, then without seasoning, shape it into small flat cakes. Place on a hot frying pan or griddle and cook several minutes on each side. Do not season until they are cooked, as this toughens the meat. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and butter and serve with toast.

Bird's Nest: Toast a piece of bread cut thicker than the usual slice. Cut a good-sized square out of the centre, leaving only a thin layer of bread on the bottom. Separate the yolk from the white of an egg, beat the white until stiff and place in the centre and am now in Calgary on my vacation. I want to write cards to several young men acquaintances of mine and do not know how to address these of the toast. Place the toast in the oven until the white has browned. This is so much more attractive than the ordinary poached egg.

Snow pudding: Two teaspoonfuls gelatin, three tablespoonfuls cold water, one-third cupful boiling water, one and a half tablespoonfuls lemon juice, three tablespoonfuls sugar and white of one egg. Soften the gelatin in the cold water, add boiling water and dissolve. Add sugar, fruit juice and extract and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Set the bowl into chopped ice or ice water to cool, stirring occasionally, and when the jelly is quite thick fold in the stiffly beaten white of two eggs and place in cold, wet molds. Put on ice to harden. When firm remove from mold and serve with soft custard.

Grape jelly: One tablespoonful of granulated gelatin, one-quarter cupful cold water, one cupful boiling water, one-half cupful sugar, juice of one lemon, one-half cupful grape juice. Soak the gelatin in the cold water, add boiling water and dissolve, add the sugar, lemon juice and grape juice. Strain and pour into molds.

Supper under the trees in a picturesque garden on a perfect day, is an ideal and so many girls of the Utopia Bible class of McDougall Methodist church found it on Thursday afternoon, when they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner of Capital Hill. Cooper and others of the official staff of the Sunday school were present. Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner were delightful host and hostess and the great pleasure which the opportunity to roam about in such pleasant surroundings gave was thoroughly appreciated by all, and covered to them when reluctant to revolve were said.

High Heels Put Corns on Toes
Who cares? Corns or calluses lift off without any pain.

Because style decrees that women crowd and buckle up their tender toes in high heeled footwear, they suffer from corns, then they cut and trim at these painful pests which merely make the corn grow hard. This suicidal habit may cause lockjaw and women are warned to stop it.

A few drops of freezeone applied directly upon sore corn or tender callus gives quick relief and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, lifts off without pain. Ask the drug store man for a tiny bottle of freezeone, which costs but a few cents, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

Freezone dries in a moment and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without even irritating the surrounding skin.

Women! Keep a bottle of freezeone handy on the dresser and never let a corn ache twice.

Millions of people die every year from Consumption. Millions could have been saved if only common sense prevention had been used in the first stage. Asthma, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Pneumonia, Weak Lungs, Catarrh, Cough, Colds and Diseases of the Respiratory Organs—all lead up to Consumption—Tuberculosis. Dr. Strandgaard's T.B. Medicine is a most successful treatment for above-mentioned diseases. What to Use and Avoid On Faces that Perspire

Skin, to be healthy, must breathe. It also must perspire. Perspiration through the pores, is the body's waste material. Certain creams and powders clog the pores, interfere with perspiration and breathing, especially during the heated period. If more women understood this, there would be many fewer ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercurized face cream, they would have healthy, clear skin. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Result: The freer, younger skin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. The exfoliated new complexion gradually peeps out, one free from any appearance of artificiality. Obtain an ounce of mercurized face cream from your druggist and try it. Apply nightly with beautiful results. A half pint will last for a week or two, washing it off mornings.

To remove wrinkles, here's a marvelous effective treatment, which also naturally and harmlessly. Dissolve an ounce of powdered exfoliant in a half pint which bath add use as a wash lotion.

WOULD CUT TOP OFF PARK FENCE

South Side Athletic Ground is the Basis for Suggestion by South Side Resident.

As a solution of the difficulty respecting the fence about the South Side Athletic ground, R. B. Ritchie of the south side comes along with the suggestion that the top portion, say three or four feet of the fence, shall be removed.

In a letter to the commissioners, he says that the removal of the upper part of the fence would allow the natural beauty of the park to be apparent and yet the enclosure would remain and all parties be satisfied.

He remarks that the city cannot afford to remove one fence and substitute it with wire, neither can it afford to allow the top of the fence to be cut off, as this would be a disgrace to the neighborhood, which would happen if the present fence were removed and nothing put in its place.

Also who the part cut off could be sold as it would be of useful length.

WIN WAR ON LAND OR CAUSE IS LOST

Berlin Military Critics Warn Leaders That England is Menace.

Copenhagen, Aug. 17.—General von Ardenne, military critic of the Berlin Tagblatt, warns the Berlin military leaders that they must bestir themselves to find some strategic or tactical means of winning a decisive victory on the western front, and of defeating England, the soul of the hostile coalition on land. Otherwise, he says, there is no hope of bringing the war to an honorable end for Germany.

German leadership, Gen. Ardenne maintains, always has been able to direct the campaign into new courses when stagnation threatened and he adds that the Germans are entitled to believe methods will be found to force England through battles on land to seek peace. The military critic intimates this might be done by an attempt to overwhelm the French army, which he assumes is weakened and discouraged.

ST. QUENTIN CHURCH FIRED BY TEUTONS

Smoke and Flames Seen First in Roof, Which Very Soon Collapsed.

London, Aug. 17.—(via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Reuter's correspondent at French headquarters wires: "Smoke and flames were seen pouring from the roof of St. Quentin cathedral Wednesday evening from the French observation posts. All night the great building flamed, and when day broke it was seen that the massive roof had fallen in carrying with it in the central tower. Thursday afternoon I looked at the ruined shell of the ancient church. The fire was still burning and smoke was pouring out from the cathedral.

"The cathedral dated in some of its parts from the thirteenth century and the choir and transept remarkably fine stained glass windows.

"The enemy set fire to two villages close to St. Quentin Wednesday night."

The cathedral or church of St. Quentin reported burning in the German official report and by a French front correspondent, is one of the finest examples of Gothic architecture in France and was erected between the twelfth and fifteenth centuries. The building had double transepts and the choir and apse were 270 feet high. It was very finely decorated in the crypt of the church was buried St. Quentin and his fellow martyrs, St. Victor and St. Genetian.

RELIEVE VETERANS OF "STOPPAGES"
Men in Civic Service Should Not Be Asked to Pay to the Patriotic Fund.

Returned soldiers in the city service should not be asked to give part of their pay to the Patriotic Fund, says
C. B. Reinhardt, secretary of the Great War Veterans' Association, in a letter to Mayor Henry. He asks if this cannot be brought about. At present they are subject to stoppages the same as other civic employees who have never been in the army.

The departments of justice and labor and board of mediation and conciliation, the food administration and other government agencies were studying with some apprehension today the situation in the northwest and were prepared, it was said, to take immediate steps to meet any development.

DELINQUENT BOYS APPEAR IN COURT
Thefts From G. T. P.—Parents
Ordered To Make Good Loss.

Delinquent boys were in the lineup in the juvenile court before Magistrate Emily F. Murphy Friday morning and twelve in all were arraigned and pleaded guilty to various offenses.
Seven young lads from Calder were first before the court. They ranged from twelve to sixteen years of age and were accused of various offenses extending over a period of six months against the G.T.P. The charges included breaking into railway coaches and taking electric light fixtures, breaking into the saw mill and stealing a magnet. The articles taken were sold after the stamp of the railway had been filed off, and substantial sums were realized.

The parents were ordered to make good the damage. Geo. McDonald, claims agent, appeared for the company and Thomas
McGee for the department.

Five boys pleaded guilty to breaking into and stealing from the house of Mrs. S. Kelsey, 77th avenue. The family were away and the boys ransacked the building. All the goods taken were returned with the exception of a ring and a bottle of perfume. Sentences were imposed by the magistrate, that given the ring-leader being more severe than the others.

PEACE TALK IS LAID TO ENEMY
London, Aug. 17.—Kennedy Jones, former director of food economy, in the House of Commons declared that friends of Germany had begun the present peace offensive, and that the time had come when an end ought to be made to it by a decided and clear statement to the mischievous suggestion that Great Britain might be ready to make an inconclusive peace. He believed that Germany, despite internal trouble, would be able to hold her people together by iron discipline. He said the blockade could not have a decisive effect unless the pressure became greater.

HIS WOUNDS PROVED FATAL

About a year ago Major Collum, who left the city with a Winnipeg battalion, was awarded the Military Cross

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1917

The auditor appointed to investigate the taking of the B.C. soldiers' vote in the prohibition plebiscite finds that not more than twenty per cent. of the B.C. soldiers voted, that of those who voted less than half were B.C. soldiers, and that if every B.C. soldier who voted were counted as voting against prohibition the measure would still be carried by a popular majority of more than two thousand. Somebody ought to go to jail for the way that election was handled, but unless the Brewster Government is making pretexts nobody will.

The high cost of living commodities has made another record. If somebody challenges it and demands another commission to investigate, there is a very large increase in the amounts of butter, eggs, cheese and beef now stored in Canada's as compared with the amounts in storage a year ago—so much more as to suggest that interested parties have been busy gathering up these articles of food with the intention of making the public pay still more prohibitive prices for them next winter. As we have a food controller, the public will be entitled to look to him to save them from any such hold-up.

Mr. Robert Borden has thought it politically expedient to make a statement repudiating any connection between his Government and the Nationalist party of Quebec. Meantime the representatives of the Nationalist party continue to hold places in his Government, and the party continues to carry on in Quebec the logical development of the propaganda by which in 1911 they helped to put his Government in power. In politics actions speak more effectively than words: and if Sir Robert wishes to dissociate himself from the allies with whom he made common cause six years ago, and whose campaign was financed from the funds of his party organization, he will have first to dissociate himself from the representatives of those allies who hold portfolios in his Government. That Sir Robert approves the growing up of the residence of Sir Hugh Graham and the instigation of rebellion in the province of Quebec is unthinkable; but he has a share in the responsibility of these developments, from which as yet he has done nothing to clear himself. He made Nationalism profitable and exalted it to a place of distinction and authority, by taking its lieutenants into his Government as the reward for a campaign of sedition which the present campaign is simply a forward step in the process of evolution. And his allies of 1911, who took sedition at the time he placed it up, and who are now using it as they then used it with his approval and for his advantage, have not yet been punished, nor even subjected to the "severe displeasure" of having their representatives cast out of the Government. The emptiness of Sir Robert's words when said alongside his actions is revealed in the protest of Mr. Laergue that he does not like to be called a traitor now "by those who were traitors with him in 1911"; and who, it may be added, still retain his confidantes in the Government. When Sir Robert dismisses his Nationalist Ministers, calls Mr. Bourassa, and suppresses le Devoir, will be time enough for him to claim to have broken with his treason-mongering allies.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons, Sir Robert Borden a few days ago gave the information that the National Service department up to the first of July had cost the country $134,081.35. The odd thirty-five cents may be counter-balanced by the service rendered.

In the light of conflicting statements from the authorities, the farmer must be wondering where he is "at," and is to be "at" in the matter of selling his wheat. Mr. H. W. Wood, a member of the board of grain supervisors, announces that farmers are now allowed to ship wheat to Minneapolis if they want to, though he thinks they would not be well advised to do so. Sir George Foster says it would be senseless to fix a maximum price for wheat in Canada and then to allow the wheat to be shipped to the United States for sale. The impression given by this is that the board of grain supervisors does as it pleases about the regulation of the grain trade, without even the formality of telling the Government what it is doing or has done; and that the Government also does as it pleases without consulting the supervisors with its purpose. Naturally the two bodies have now come into collision, and which policy will prevail remains to be seen. The Government, having the backing of Parliament and the power to discharge the supervisors, has of course the power to carry through its policy against the judgment of the supervisors. The necessary assumption, therefore, is that Sir George's word "goes," and that the export of wheat is and will be prohibited.

The meeting in McDougall auditorium was barren of resolutions, but rich in the expression of a spirit of anxiety to conform to the necessities of the situation by saving food. Meetings generally are likely to be much of the same type. It is not easy to formulate rules which would eliminate waste, for the reason that there are so many ways to waste. But it is easy to discover ways to save if we want to discover them. That the people of the city, and people generally, are anxious to discover ways to save food is beyond question, and is the point of great importance. The real food controller of the land is the lady in the kitchen. Mr. Hanna may make speeches, and the Government may make regulations, but it is the woman who makes up the family bill-of-fare who decides how much food is to be saved. She has both patriotic and financial reasons at this time for getting strictly on the job, and may be counted on to do her bit: as she has been doing it in relation to other matters of national and world importance. The question is not how far the women will help the Government, but how far the Government will help the women: by cheapening the cost of what it is desirable that people should eat, and thereby enabling the women to carry the conservation policy into effect in the kitchen.

Two dollars and forty cents per bushel has been fixed by order-in-council as the highest price that can be asked or paid for wheat in Canada. Canadian farmers are forbidden by the Government to export wheat to the United States. Canadian millers have neither been forbidden to export flour to the United States nor to boost prices in Canada out of all relation to the price they pay for wheat. Whatever the purpose, the effect of this regulation of the miller has been to force the farmer to sell his wheat in Canada or not at all, at such prices as the Canadian millers and dealers may agree among themselves to force him to accept, and to leave the Canadian consumer as completely at the mercy of the millers as he has ever been. The Canadian farmer is forbidden by law to ask or accept for his wheat any price within forty cents of the price that is being paid for similar wheat across the line; he is obliged in fact to accept any price the Canadian millers may see fit to fix for wheat which must be sold in Canada or not at all; and he has the poor consolation of knowing that the consumer gets no benefit either by law or in practice from the sacrifice imposed upon him. Either a maximum price should be put on flour or the maximum price should be taken off wheat. If the farmer is to suffer through depression in the price of wheat the consumer should be allowed to get some benefit from it. If the consumer is to suffer through inflation of the price of flour the farmer ought to be allowed to get the benefit of that.

ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of the Bulletin to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner. To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the questioner. This information is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

To the Bulletin: (a) How did the sign of three balls for a pawnbroker's shop originate? (b) Who is the present poet laureate of Great Britain.

CURIOS.
(a) The three golden balls used as the pawnbroker's sign appeared in England in very early times. The sign was first used by the Lombard merchants who immigrated to London from Italy. They established the first pawnbroker's establishment and it is generally held that they adopted the three golden balls to be borne on the arms of the Lombard corporation from the armorial bearings of the Medici family, which was conspicuous among the Lombard merchant princes of Italy. (b) Robert Bridges is poet laureate of England at the present time.

To the Bulletin: If a boy came here from United States and homesteaded in Grande Prairie, could the United States government take him from here for the American army or would he belong to Canada?

V. L.
If his father was naturalized as a Canadian and he was under twenty-one he would be a Canadian also.

To the Bulletin: Will you kindly tell me how to melt rubber so that it may not lose its properties of elasticity and waterproofing and will harden or dry and not be sticky.

W. H.
This would have to be done by vulcanization.

To the Bulletin: How could I secure my birth certificate if my mother lost the first one?

If you will apply to the registrar of vital statistics in the province or state in which you were born you can secure a copy for a nominal sum.

Current Comment

PREMIER'S LATEST SURRENDER

(From the Toronto Globe)
Sir Robert Borden's well-wishers throw up their hands in a gesture of despair at his latest surrender to the lowest influences in his own party. At a critical time, when it was specially incumbent upon him to study to regain public confidence and to enlist the good-will of his political opponents, he has chosen to affront the moral sentiment of the country by pledging anew his fealty to Mr. Rogers.

A CAPTIVE.
(From the Kingston Whig)
The big interest have got the finance minister. Nothing surer. The excess profits measure of 1917 lasts only for this year. No one can tell just what happened at Ottawa, but the men who put Sir Thomas White where he is have spoken. And that is enough.

FROM HELPLESSNESS

(From the Toronto Globe)
Sir Robert Borden tried to maintain his Government on the old party basis, with the patronage system intact, until he found the difficulties too great. A year ago the coalition offer would have been an act of statesmanship. Today it comes not from statesmanship, but from helplessness.

EMPIRE PATRIOTISM

(From the Ottawa Citizen)
By its advocacy of a large increase in the British preference the Liberal Convention in Winnipeg has given more practical evidence of the true spirit of empire patriotism than all the vapors of a vague sort about our connection with Britain indulged in by politicians in a position to do more than talk loyalty. Handsome is as handsome does in as true in matters of this kind as in individual affairs. Let the Borden government give some practical evidence of its much boasted loyalty by accepting the Liberal recommendation.

A WORD OF WARNING

(From the Syracuse Post-Standard)
Now then, you girl professors who are teaching the Sammies how to talk French, none of this "je vous aime" business!

FRANCE TRUE TO TRADITION

(From the London Times)
When her Northern Departments have been freed from the despoiler and the "Mark of the Beast" removed; when her ravished provinces shall be restored to her; when reparation shall have been exacted for unspeakable wrong, and her security established beyond fear of attack; when the enslaved peoples of Europe shall have been liberated, and their oppressors taught that scientific barbarism cannot prevail against the vindictive force of right, France will yet stand among the nations to bear witness that honor goes before material welfare and that right is better than peace. The war has revealed to us her true nobility. It has shown that the France of tradition is the France of today.

EIGHT REEL SELIG MASTER

DRAMA NEXT AT MONARCH

"Beware of Strangers" Built On Plans and Specifications Provided By District Attorney of Chicago—Fine Cast Presents It.

Investigations come in mighty handy these days to form the plots of thrilling picture dramas. Little did the city prosecutors of the city of Chicago think when they brought to justice a blackmailing syndicate preying on an unsuspecting public that they were laying the foundation for a motion picture. The plot was there, Gilson Willet discovered it. With Walter Howie he built an eight-reel play explaining this organization of crooks and showing how they operated.

"Beware of Strangers" is the title of the result of the joint labors of Messrs. Willetts and Howie, and though the story came through the censors unscathed it is pretty virile picture drama, and aside from dealing with a subject of paramount interest it is well worth seeing. It's moral is "Beware of Strangers." No matter how suave, sweet or smiling Mr. Stranger may be, do not trust either yourself or your money to him. If you do you are liable to get blackmailed or land in jail. This and the reason why are pointed out very clearly in this romance built on the individual incidents connected with a certain important criminal case with which U. S. secret service operatives have recently been involved.

Col. Selig, who is responsible for the production of this eight reel masterpiece has assembled one of the best acting companies he has ever presented in any photoplay. There is Tom Santschi, who will be remembered favorably for his fine work in "The Spoilers," Jack Richardson, Edward Coxen, Fritz Brunette, Frank Clark, Al. W. Pilon, Bessie Eytan, Vivian Rich, Harry Lonsdale, Eugene Bessier. The direction was looked after by Collin Campbell.

Mlle. Lillian Aurora Bringing "The Happy Family" As a Variety Feature.

Lovers of the sensational should find all they want soon at the Pantages theatre when the leading feature will be one of the like of which is not seen every day, in the form of an interesting melange presented by Mlle. Lillian Aurora, entitled "The Happy Family, the Lion, the Lady, the Horse and the Dog." In the course of this extraordinary performance "D'Artagnan," the Beau Brummel of the Leon world, is introduced as the only equestrian lion in the world, and some surprises are sprung on the audience.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera Infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent all the dreaded stomach complaints. Concerning them, Mrs. Fred Rose, South Bay, Ont., says: "I feel Baby's Own Tablets saved the life of our baby when she had cholera infantum and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EDNA EARLE ANDREWS

PANTAGES

At the Pantages theatre all next week.

For the purpose of the show, a strong iron cage, about fifteen feet in height, is placed on the stage. Mlle. Aurora, America's youngest business, appears on the horse, which, going gracefully round, keeps time to the music of the orchestra. The horse retires and the dog arrives on the scene carrying a newspaper for the lady. Mlle. Aurora is seated with the dog near at hand when a door suddenly opens at the back of the stage and a lion springs into the cage. After roaring wildly for a few moments, he makes friends with "chocolate" his poodle companion and the two romp together as playmates and finally dine together, the lady supplying food to each animal in turn. The final stage in the exciting performance is reached when the horse returns to the cage, and the lion, springing to the animal's back, rides triumphantly around while Mlle. Aurora regulates the movements of the horse with her whip.

This part of the program alone should be the means of drawing large crowds to the Pantages during the engagement. After this, the audience receives several thrills when Mlle. Aurora begins to rattle the lion's temper with the whip. The handsome black horse "Prince" his poodle companion "Chocolate" and "D'Artagnan" a most congenial trio with a perfect friendship existing between them and their "boss" Mlle. Aurora.

story that will unfold on the screen of the Majestic theatre on Monday and Tuesday. The first time, Powell lost it himself en route to the location. The next time he started out with it, but somehow it was mislaid while the players were rehearsing the scene, that everything might be perfect when the director called "Camera." And still another time Powell, by chance, brought with him two gloves for the right hand, instead of a right and left as he should have done. The company of actors, director and cameramen would assemble and everyone would be ready for action and then a cry would go up, "Where is that left glove?"

As Mr. Powell's hands register quite plainly in this murder scene and the one immediately preceding it when he stops to light a cigarette and is seen by Gloria from her boudoir window, supposedly just across the way, it was absolutely necessary that both his hands be gloved, for such seemingly unimportant details as the omission of a glove when the player has worn gloves on each of his hands in a previous scene, make or mar a production. Someone always had to be dispatched back to the studio for that missing glove, and nine times out of ten the boy brought back a right glove, a white or a light colored one, but never by any chance did he return with a dark glove for the left hand.

By the time that the scene you will note on the screen was actually taken Powell had a nice accumulation of gloves for the right hand only, and is now seeking someone that accident has deprived of their left hand.

"Bon Voyage"—Girl and Music Melange.

Martin Brooks, the celebrated young New York producer, has succeeded in scoring another hit with his latest girl-and-music melange, "Bon Voyage," the title of this offering, is a spectacular scenic singing and dancing revue, containing a couple of funny comedians, a bevy of bewitching and sprightly maidens and a wealth of special scenery, embellishing the production along the most advanced and futuristic lines.

The next feature in the list of acts will be "The Saint and the Sinner," an extraordinary dramatic sketch presented by a talented company, headed by Edna Earl Andrews, Joe Brady and Tim Mahoney are offering a timely and laughable nautical satire which they call "The Cruise of the Fough-nut." Characterizing a naval officer and a thick-headed sailor, they deal in a very comical manner with all the marine subjects of the day.

The Cromwells present a quaint little vaudeville conceit, which should make even the most blasé theatre-goer sit up and take notice. The Cromwells are brother and sister, and in their act, the two present a series of juggling feats, that are novel, Jessie and Dollie Miller have an artistic musical and dancing act, which will lend an atmosphere of class and tone to the entire bill.

"THE JUGGERNAUT."
"THE LOVE THIEF."

Two pictures are scheduled for showing at the Empress theatre next week, one of them verging on the melodramatic, owing to its spectacular scenes, while the other is a stirring story of romance along the Mexican border. The former is entitled "The Juggernaut" in which the wrecking of a locomotive and three passenger cars, while crossing a high trestle, on which are defective ties, provides the highly sensational incident which draws the audience and will win applause. This is the wreck which authorities declare is the most spectacular that was ever filmed for the screen. The scenes leading up to the wreck are such as to cause high suspense, being a race by automobile and motor boat against time. But there is also a live theme in the play, something unusual in stories constructed around mechanical accessories. The vital motive and the characterization, particularly that of Philip Harden, raise "The Juggernaut" above the mere story to which it naturally belongs. It is directed against the greed and graft so rampant in railroad properties run as stock-jobs, and the conditions that in the public interest, a condition of affairs from which Canada has been singularly free, but which lead to such an upheaval of public feeling among our southern neighbors. The story is wound about the lives of two college students and their careers, and the wife and daughter of one of them, who makes really remarkable screen offering. For the last three days of the week comes "The Love Thief," with its story of romance, and besides Gretchen Hartman and Alan Hale, who are featured in this picture, there is a cast of exceptional merit, chief among whom are Frances Burnham, Edwin Cecil, Willard Louis, Jack McDonald and Charles Edler. The picture has a strong military atmosphere, and included with it on the program is the Mutt and Jeff comedy and the Pathe Weekly Gazette.

MAJESTY

Dorothy Bernard and Jack Sherrill for the last time today in "A Stirring Society Drama."

David Powell, as Richard Preneau in "Gloria's Romance," is beginning to think that a man cannot be murdered successfully unless he wears on his hands a left glove only. For a long time poor Mr. Powell has had to go to the base of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument on Riverside Drive, New York, and be murdered every morning. "One gets quite accustomed to anything—even being murdered every morning after breakfast, with an admiring, horror-stricken audience gazing at one," says Powell, "but never, no, never, should one be murdered with a right glove only covering one's hands."

To elucidate, it appears that the glove for Mr. Powell's left hand was forgotten on each and every occasion when Director Edwin was ready to film the murder scene which forms an important bit in the Rupert Hughes

Today's Anniversaries

The first child of English parents born in the New World was Virginia Dare, the daughter of William and Eleanor Dare. It was 330 years ago today, that the stark made his historic flight to Roanoke, Va., where Dare and his young wife were members of an agricultural party sent out by Sir Walter Raleigh. Dare was the son-in-law of John White, the governor of the colony. The birth of the baby was a great event and in her infancy she was the pet and pride of the colonists. After cultivating the friendship of the Indians, and conferring on one of their chiefs the title of Lord of Roanoke, the first and last peace created on the soil of what is now the American republic Governor White sailed away, leaving his daughter, son-in-law and infant granddaughter behind. When he returned, White found Roanoke a desolation, and thus Virginia Dare vanished from the pages of history. It is believed that the colonists mingled with the Indians, for long afterwards families of the Hatteras tribe exhibited marked English characteristics.

INJURES IN QUARREL ARE FATAL

London, Aug. 17.—Private Joseph Wilks of the Canadian forces has died at Earlbourne as a result of wounds received in a quarrel at Seaforth last May. A Montenegrin, Layovitch, also with the Canadians, is serving a three-year sentence for the shooting of Wilks.

Neuralgia results from exhausted nerves. Take Esaya-Neural, the new remedy. Free sample (one week's treatment) ample to prove its value in your case, sent upon request to Davis & Lawrence Co., Montreal.

Many Children Die From Summer Complaint

When They Could Be Saved by Using
DR. FOWLER'S
EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY

There is not a summer passes without thousands of people, especially infants, being attacked by Summer Complaint.

The prostration, often verging on collapse, which sometimes accompanies the disease makes it one of the most serious and dangerous we have to contend with during the hot months.

A remedy which will quickly offset the vomiting, purging and the profuse diarrhoea is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Thomas M. Theriault, Grand Anse, N.B., writes: "My three children were very sick with Summer Complaint during the hot days last summer. I thought one day that they would die, and I didn't know what to do to cure them. I happened to have one of your almanacs in the house, and found by reading about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry that it was a good remedy. I at once got two bottles, and they perfectly cured them. I recommend everybody to use this wonderful remedy."

When you ask for "Dr. Fowler's" see that you get it.

It has been on the market for the past 72 years.

You don't experiment when you buy it.

TRAIN WRECK

FEATURES OF THE
"JUGGERNAUT"

Photograph of Actual Scene—Spectacular Effects Seen in Play at Empress.

The mention of a train wreck brings home to people at once the regrettable disaster that occurred only twenty miles from here a few weeks ago when the moonlight special on the C.N.R. was wrecked while on its way to Alberta Beach, resulting in the deaths of five persons and more or less serious injury to forty-three.

Just what a train wreck means is shown in all its terrible reality on the Empress theatre screen the first three days of next week in "The Juggernaut," a powerful story that thrills and grips through every foot of its five reels. To make this picture it was necessary that a real train wreck be photographed, and the producing company went to great expense to see that the accomplishment was the most spectacular that had ever been recorded in the movies. That they succeeded may be guessed from the fact that of all staged wrecks that have since been made, authorities declare that none has ever equalled that in "The Juggernaut." It was taken by the photographers from more than twenty different angles, and the best picture selected for use in this picture.

CHICAGO CRITIC.
PRAISES PICTURE OF GRAFT PROBLEM

Bob McKnight, the well informed critic of the Chicago Journal, pays the following laudatory tribute to "Beware of Strangers," which will be shown on the screen at the Monarch Theatre all next week:

"All wool and a yard wide in 'Beware of Strangers,' the serious attention to the Madison street crash. There has been cheating in this sensation. Every phase of 'gold coast' swindling is given a white-hot treatment. The picture is a masterpiece of the recently exposed International Syndicate. Walter Howie collaborated with Gilson Willetts in weaving the yarn for the daily news. The yarn is good, concerns a weak son of wealth and a strong, revengeful daughter of the working class. The former embroils her funds, the latter suffers in the consequent crash. Both eventually fall into the crime web, the girl to wreak vengeance on the man the victim of his original peccadillo."

"Popular interest attaches to the film. The crooked poolroom and blackmail are featured. Their delineation makes clear many a news story that otherwise would be vague to the lay reader. An all-star Selig cast includes Tom Santschi, Fritz Brunette, Ed Coxen and Bessie Eytan. Miss Eytan plays the sympathetic role of a daughter who escapes from her dishonest father's roof only to become the victim of one of the swindlers."

thrilled to see an oncoming express locomotive, with three passenger cars attached, run onto a bridge at terrific speed and crash through the rotten timbers to the stream beneath. What is shown on the screen is not mere flash of what looks like a wreck, but an amazingly clear presentation of every phase of the disaster, the splintered cars, the men extracting the victims, and all the details attending such an episode.

Don't tamper with your carburetor unless you know it is out of adjustment, and not even then unless you know just what you are doing.

When he had climbed a little way, he noticed that his head was wobbling almost off. He took it by the hair and lifted it off his shoulders. Well, he didn't feel any worse, so he thought of a good plan. There was a nice crotch in the branch just over him. He reached up and put his head in it. Then he slid down to the ground, sat down with his back to a tree and enjoyed the ball game very much. With his loose eye in his hand he could see what passed in the road, and with his other eye in the tree he saw the ball game.

After the game, he got up and strolled home, his thoughts full of baseball. As he came up the walk his mother threw open the door and cried: "James, where is your head?"

Jimmy couldn't remember what he had done with it!

His father came in just then, and was told the state of affairs.

"Well, Jim," he said, "it's your own fault. You know I've warned you often enough not to be so foolish. It would be a sad lesson to you if you have to go the rest of your life without any head!"

Jimmy sat down in grief and woe, but he couldn't speak as he had no mouth and he couldn't cry as he had no tears.

"I must think hard!" he thought. "But then, how can I think without any brains? How can I ever comb my hair or brush my teeth or laugh or whistle? Ho, ho, ho!"

He went up to his room and sat down at his desk by the window and tried and tried to remember what he had done with his head. He wondered if he hadn't better advertise in the paper, or maybe get the police to help in the search.

He heard his father talking downstairs to somebody—he was glad he had his ears and one eye, at least.

"Oh, where's my head!" he cried. "Right where it usually is," said his father's voice.

Jimmy looked up and found that the room was almost dark and his father was standing beside him.

"O dear!" exclaimed Jimmy. "I'm glad I've got my head and my ears and my eyes and everything!"

"Been dreaming, eh?" said his father. "Make three times then I thought I'd better come up and see what had happened to you. Come on down!"

Jimmy followed his father downstairs with a rather solemn look on his face. He told his dream at the supper table, and they all laughed over it.

"I'd rather have a lesson like that in a dream," said Jimmy, "than have it really happen."

"That's right!" said Papa Gordon. "But is the lesson going to do you any good?"

"Well, if it doesn't, Sir, it won't be my fault!" replied Jimmy.

After this Napoleon worked some, and idled more; and his limited purse dwindled to almost nothing. These were the beginnings of the greatest military career in modern history, a career at which all the world will always marvel.

Vegreville Fair Attracts Attention In Progressive District of Alberta

Second Day Sees Grounds Crowded—Exhibits Remarkable For Quality—Full List of Prize Winners in Extended Number of Classes.

Vegreville, Aug. 16, 1917.—The annual show of the Vegreville agricultural society was held Tuesday and Wednesday, and on the whole was quite a success. Though there were not as many entries as last year, some of the exhibits were much better. The attendance on Wednesday was good, placing the fifteenth exhibition in the best of shape.

It was regretted that, through other fairs being held the same day there was not the usual large exhibit in horses, cattle, sheep and swine, but the judges pronounced it "very good," and this is more appreciated through the fact that all were local animals. Of poultry there was a full house, a number of the birds having to be shown outside the regular space, and in some instances the contest was keen.

There was not a large showing of grain in the sack, but that in the show was excellent. A nice exhibit of peas of the "Blue" was included. The collection of wild seeds in phials and of woods in cases attracted attention. The lettuce entries had the largest individual heads ever seen, one measuring over 18 inches across; and the cauliflower, winter radish, potatoes, turnips, beets and carrots were large and good. The whole vegetable display would be hard to beat for this season. Mention must be made of an exceedingly fine entry of good sized clean tomatoes, and some cucumbers, showing much cultivation along this line will do.

The fruit in jars could not be beaten as to quality, although there was not a great quantity, and the flowers, especially in the cut class, were fine. In bread and butter the display was limited, but to a hungry man it looked good and was pronounced so by those who had judged it. Dairy exhibits were double that of last year. As usual there was a large collection of ladies and girls' work, the judges, in several instances, being hard pressed to decide as to the ribbons, and some of the exhibits were pronounced excellent.

The school exhibits were good, though not numerous.

In the World of Labor

IN THE WORLD OF LABOR... TRADES and Labor council will meet on Monday night at the Central Labor hall, 1015 street. A good attendance is particularly requested as the question of sending a delegate to Congress will again come under discussion, together with a number of other important matters. The matter of a strong attendance of delegates at the council meetings cannot be too strongly impressed, and at the last meeting President Findlay made some strong trenchant remarks on the subject. He said that there was some excuse for absence that particular night owing to the meeting being held on a general holiday, yet at other times attendance was not such as desired or as it should be. If working men had an eye to their own interests, nothing would be gained to the cause of labor until they learnt the first principle of unity of action, and of carrying out this cooperation in a whole-hearted manner with every man doing his part, and not leaving the work to a few. To gain anything they have to use their vote, and this would be to use unless the vote was directed collectively in the right direction to further the interests of labor.

NOW that the special committee of the Trades council has had the opportunity to interview some of the locals on the subject of the election of a delegate to be sent to represent Edmonton at the forthcoming Dominion Trades and Labor congress, this is as it should be. The committee reports an excellent response to their appeal, and it seems that the financial end no longer presents a stumbling-block. It now remains for the choice of a delegate to be made who will worthily represent the opinions of labor men in the city, and this is a matter that will in all probability occupy the attention of the meeting on Monday.

A special meeting of the Labor Representation league will be held on August 27, when the selection of candidates for federal and civic elections has been announced for discussion. J. Briscoe, the first president of the league, has now left the city and his place has been filled by the appointment of C. Marshall to the office.

THE Street Railwaymen's agreement has been referred to the utilities committee for action and now comes the "bug-of-war." Last year it was a long time after the agreement had reached the committee stage before a settlement was arrived at. When the settlement was prolonged it gives the matter the significance of having entered the realm of civic politics and it has been stated that such shall not be the case this year. Some of the aldermen were for turning down the requests of the men for increased wages point blank, while others took the view that the requests were due consideration.

AN agreement between the employees in the mechanical end of the city telephone department and the city is likely to be an accomplished fact before long. Some time ago the employees presented a draft agreement to the commissioners for approval, but re-consideration of this was asked. After discussing terms with Rupt. Lowry another draft agreement has been framed and submitted. This is stated to be satisfactory and is likely to go into effect very shortly.

ALDERMAN Kinney, of Edmonton, general organizer for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters for Western Canada, and J. G. Smith, of Vancouver, general organizer for the amalgamated section of the brotherhood, lately visited the mayor and commissioners of Calgary, and asked that the city recognize the new agreement of the carpenters, which calls for a scale of 60 cents per hour instead of 50 cents. They said that most of the contractors of the city and district have agreed to the new scale. It was originally intended to have the new wage go into effect the first of the present month, but the carpenters have consented to an increase to 55 cents during the present month, with the 60-cent scale to go into effect on September 1. The commissioners agreed to recommend that this scale be paid all competent men engaged in carpenter work while in the employ of the city.

The British Columbia Federation of Labor will hold a convention in Vancouver on Labor day, September 8, for the purpose of discussing the vital matters of national import now before the people. The subjects will deal with the political and industrial affairs of the Dominion and the provinces. Two subjects which will be dealt with exhaustively will be profiteering and conscription.

REFERENCE to the early days of trade unionism in Canada and the States is always interesting. According to one authority it seems that mechanics in the ship-building trade must be awarded the distinction of being the first to unite in an organization of this kind. From 1720 to 1730 members of the ship-building craft in Boston formed a "Caulkers' Club," one of the earliest, if not the first, trades union to be started in North America. Its proceedings, like those of all early trades unions, were shrouded in strict secrecy, and in times such as these combinations, whether of masters or of men, were viewed with suspicion and summarily proceeded against on the ground of conspiracy of trade, the more innocuous of Caulkers' conclaves was large with possibilities in the expectant imaginations of the caulkers seems to have anticipated their craft in the United States in throwing the first shuttle that was to weave the great web of industrial organization among the forces of the toilers, the printing craft have elsewhere the distinction of being the advance men of the new order. In France, in Italy, in Germany, it was members of the printing trade who united for the advancement of their trade interests.

The first Canadian printers' union was organized at Quebec in 1827. It regulated wages in the craft, cared for its sick and held musical and dramatic entertainments, presumably for the enrichment of its benefit funds. In 1834, printers of York, afterwards Toronto, were similarly allied, and at about the same period, shoemakers, coopers and stonemasons followed suit. In the 40's there were unions of the same trades at Montreal.

Timely Hints To Auto Drivers

Don't put oil in the engine without first making sure that it is free from dirt and lint.
Don't race the engine when it is not drawing the car. There is no worse abuse.
Don't neglect to keep the radiator filled with water. Also use a good anti-freeze solution in cold weather.
Don't neglect your tires; use the pressure gauge and maintain between 70 and 80 pounds pressure.
Don't fail to inspect the level of liquid in the storage battery every two weeks.
Don't drive with your feet on the clutch or brake pedals.
Don't let your car stand with headlights full on. It is unnecessary, and it runs your battery down.
Don't drive fast on slippery streets.
Don't drive with fully retarded spark.

real Shipwrights and caulkers were organized at Kingston in 1848, at Victoria in 1862 and at Halifax in 1863. The year 1858 saw a sailmakers' union formed at Quebec, while the longshoremen of St. John, N.B., were organized in 1865. In 1880 there existed in the Dominion a few unions of craftsmen in the building and in the metal trades.

Can Your Hens For Winter Use

"Canned chicken may be made at home in your own kitchen out of the old hens that ought to be killed anyway. The method of operation for what is known as 'straight pack' by the trade is very simple and is given in detail as follows by Dr. Robt. Barnes, chief of the meat and canned goods division, department of agriculture, Ottawa.

Clean and cut up the chicken. Sort out the fleshy portions, such as the legs, thighs and breast.

Break off the protruding portions of the bones in each piece.

Pack these fleshy portions in a gem jar or other container as closely as possible.

Add salt and pepper (about a teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth teaspoonful of pepper).

Fill to within three-quarters inch of overflowing with the liquid that comes from the balance of the chicken, process for preparing which is given below.

Place in boiler or other vessel containing warm water and gradually bring to a boil.

For pint jars boil two and one-quarter hours.

For quart jars boil three and one-half hours.

MUCH MONEY PAID FOR FLOCK SHEEP: WEALTH IN WOOL

Alberta Sheep Breeder Aims To Make World Look Here For Classy Breeding Stock.

R. C. Harvey, Canada's leading sheep breeder, has 260 pure bred sheep now on their way from England, for which he paid $37,250. When this lot arrives, Mr. Harvey will have paid close to $100,000 for pure bred stock which he has bred up his flock. The shipments from England is said to be the most expensive ever made by any single Canadian breeder. During the past five years he has developed a great interest in breeding up his flock. His idea is to develop a highly bred cross which will have both wool and mutton qualities, and at the same time the wool texture and the constitution to stand the western Canadian climate.

A few years ago he brought in several hundred Rambouillet ewes. At the Franco World's Fair he bought some prize winning Romney. By crossing the two breeds he has developed an animal that suits the Alberta range in every particular.

Recently he placed an order with Patrick, the Hideron, Ont., breeder, to secure 250 pure bred ewes and 10 pure bred rams of the Romney Marsh breed, in Kent, England, as these were not available in the United States and Australian breeders would not sell them. For the ewes he pays $125 each and for the rams $50 each.

Mr. Harvey's pure bred stock this year sheared from 15 to 20 pounds, and wool is now quoted at 65 to 70 cents, so he thinks it is worth while to spend the money to get quality stuff. This fall he has 500 ram lambs of the Romney-Rambouillet cross which were dropped in February and March.

It is his ambition to make the whole world look to Alberta for high class sheep.—Lethbridge Herald.

HAY AND PASTURE

The hay and pasture problem can be solved. On Chris Johnston's homestead along the Peace River trail, about six miles north of the Athabasca, there is proof of this. Several patches of alfalfa clover have sprung up from the seed of a freighter's bag. Last fall this clover was green and luscious for three weeks after all the native grasses were frozen down. This spring there was good pasturage a month before the native grasses were available. If this can be done by a volunteer crop, surely better results can be gained by careful preparation. It would mean that the pasture season would be lengthened six weeks.—Athabasca Herald.

Today We Celebrate

The Tragedy of Finland
Recent despatches from Russia have told of the desire of the Finnish people, as expressed through their diet, to separate themselves from Russia and re-establish the independence which was torn from them more than 15 years ago today. As these lines are written she may have gone a step further in her fight for freedom and independence, which is opposed by revolutionary Russia. The domination of Russia over Finland, capably under the Czar, forms one of the darkest tragedies of history. This domination began 174 years ago today, Aug. 18, 1743, when Sweden ceded a part of the northern country to the empire of the reigning Czar. Thirty years before this time Russia had occupied Finland but was forced to give it up after seven years. Russia awarded a favorable opportunity to annex the country once more, and the opportunity came in 1741, when the Hata, against the wishes of King Frederick of Sweden, made war on Russia. As a result Sweden had to conclude the shameful peace of Abo, Aug. 18, 1743, and give up eastern Finland. Peter the Great had already conquered the province of Wyborg, and from that time on Finland has borne the Russian yoke, which was only partly lightened by the overthrow of the Czar, and through the greater liberality of the present government. Sweden made several attempts to recover her lost provinces, but all failed, and in 1809 Charles XII. Sweden concluded a peace with Russia by which all Finland came under the Czar's rule.

Although they inhabit a land so far north that winter lasts from seven to nine months, and the sun is absent during December and January, and although they have been oppressed for more than a century and a half and have often been subjected to terrible famines, the Finns have maintained a high state of culture, democracy and civilization. The Finns compare favorably, both in intellect and type, with any people of Europe, and their spirit has never been broken.

Every Czar, of Russia, for a century, has taken a solemn oath to uphold the grand duchy of Finland and has lied in his heart as he pronounced the words. In 1905 the recently deposed Czar, because of internal troubles and the Russian revolution, restored and confirmed Finland's liberty, and for a little space the unhappy land knew the blessings of free parliamentary government. Not long afterward, however, the newly born liberties were once more curtailed and persecutions resumed with added bitterness.

All of this, of course, changed with the downfall of Nicholas II. The Finns now enjoy as much liberty as any other Russians. Still these sturdy people want to know themselves entirely independent once more, and to this end have declared their intention to secede from the Russia of Kerensky.

GREASING A CAR IS SEVERAL HOURS WORK

Most Owners Of Automobiles Do Not Know How Much Time Really Takes To Do Job.

A man of long experience in repairing and adjusting cars has this to say on the grease question. The care and attention which an automobile requires after it has been placed on the road are often not accorded to by its owner or operator. Lack of knowledge, procrastination and even wilful inattention are often the causes of unsatisfactory service of a well built and mechanically correct vehicle designed automobile. The manufacturer often places in the hands of the purchaser a highly developed and perfectly constructed car, only to have it operated by an owner (and sometimes a chauffeur) whose whole interest, knowledge, and care are centered and absorbed by keeping the varnish bright, the metal parts polished, and the upholstery clean.

The under-the-hood and more frequently the under-the-body parts of a car are subject to such glaring neglect that the manufacturer often feels that he is subject to a positive injustice when called upon to repair some part which has failed while plainly showing evidence of patent neglect. As lubricators of motor cars where we actually place the lubricant on the parts needing attention, it never has been our experience to have a car brought to us for service which had been perfectly lubricated. Some part had always been overlooked. We always found a dry oil cup or an empty grease cup, not to mention parts as are failing to receive a proper share of lubrication owing to clogged oil and grease holes or broken grease cups, etc. Lubrication is at best a highly technical matter, and although manufacturers do provide in most cases ample means of lubrication and furnish charts and instruments, we venture to say that of the small percentage of owner-drivers who actually study these and understand them, there are those who do not constantly postpone the actual labor of attending to the less accessible grease cups and oil cups on the car. To fully and completely lubricate the average car is the work of from seven to ten hours. If, therefore, an owner who has been told that "greasing a car" is a simple matter, tips a floor man in a garage to grease his car in some spare half hour, it is scarcely surprising that the universal brake mechanism, transmission, and differential and dozens of minor moving parts get more of the promise than the lick in the "lick and a promise" that even the more obvious and easily accessible parts receive.

EDMONTON SOLDIERS A HOME AND ABROAD

PTE. LYNN BROWN TELLS OF HIS EXPERIENCES ON FIGHTING LINE

Pte. Lynn Brown (22284), who enlisted with a local sportsman's battalion and was drafted to a Calgary regiment at the front, writes an interesting letter of his experiences. He says in part:

Somewhere, July 5, 1917. Well, here I am in a place that all soldiers are supposed to be. At present there is nothing doing except an exchange by the artillery and there is nothing to report. Of course that is comparatively speaking. The thing is all new and therefore every little thing is of interest. So far I have enjoyed myself immensely and they will have to make it a good deal hotter before I change my mind. Anyway it is much preferable to the Bull Ring at the Base.

The distance from billets into the front line was not so great and not tedious as there was so much of interest to note all along the road. It was a lovely calm evening when we set out and all so peaceful that strife seemed a crime—which of course it is. What struck me as most remarkable during the first stages of the march was the presence in the shell-battered villages of women and children. One would think the authorities would force them into a safer place, but they were apparently serene and happy, standing in the rain and desolation, the better part of the house lying in the dust and the remainder patched up with anything available—mats, evidence of Kaiser Bill's handiwork. This is what makes your blood boil—the stark ruins everywhere. God only knows where the families are that were once living so peacefully in their shelter.

Sang Froid of Transport Drivers
Our route lay along a road used extensively by the army. There were transports and Pte. Fritze had the range of one particular corner in a village. Just before our arrival at said corner three shells burst there and a line of transports came on by the double, but there were no wounded. The supreme uncertainty of the drivers is a miracle. They were all smoking, singing or chattering away and paid about as much attention to the W.B.'s as to a mosquito. From that point onwards the company marched in single file and as we marched along a steady stream of wagons crept by carrying up shells and other supplies. The road was a plain which has been trampled, wired and shelled for further orders. The German positions here had been shelled so that the ground was a mass of holes and the trench itself was pounded out of all recognition. So much for the power of our artillery fire. After a mile of this we came to battalion headquarters and got out of each and every one a goodly amount of ration. We carried mere 75 pounds—for about half a mile through a twisting, turning communication trench. In places we had to get down and crawl through tunnels. The machine guns which had been heard plainly like some pneumatic hammers, and the country was alight with flares. Although quite a number of shells were flying, our position was taken over without a single accident.

In Cellar of Ruined House
We signalled here a dandy place in the cellar of a ruined house. There are really two cellars under the house and the two of us, who had been joined up by a low tunnel. Our window is a shell hole in the bricks, while the door leads to a brick stairway. The Germans were here before us, as they left their signposts and a German paper and some other junk lying around. Only three of us company signallers are here this trip and we work three hour shifts. We have a big mattress on the floor and then overcoat keep two of us quite warm and comfy. The barsting shells don't keep me awake at all. Rations and water come up after dark and there is always plenty to eat. This morning I had a brazer and warm beer and bacon, and made tea and toast. They supply milk and sugar, too. Believe me, we live in style. There is a big patch of strawberries in the vicinity. It only takes a few minutes to get a quart—also cherries and red currants grow in abundance—in someone's back yard. Right in front of our cellar there is an old garden full of large flowers and I found a good bunch and placed them on our table in a brass shell case. Verily we are classy!

I spent most of the afternoon yesterday watching the effects of shell fire on a big coal tipple about a mile away. Apparently the Germans thought we had an O.P. there, and had their heavy guns working it. We made it hot for them. There were four direct hits and lots more very close.

Followed by Sound
The progress of a big shell can be followed by the sound it makes—like a sky rocket on a large scale. One can see cover after a big shrapnel shell bursts, but the thing which makes you shudder is the sound. This morning I was standing outside when a big shell burst quite a piece away. I did not pay much attention until it was in the air and then I heard "this way out (or in)" said I, and therefor stayed downstairs. There is very little doing during the day, and the fireworks generally start about nine or ten. Last night (censored). Even (censored) H.Q. is pretty safe except from H.E. and so far none of them have come over. Right now (2:40 p.m.) it is quite and peaceful as Edmonton. Not a sound except the buzzing of the flies and chirping of little wrens. The other boys have gone out for some red currants, which will be at for supper. (Oh hang, I have spotted it all—there go the guns again). My pop-gun is left on the table for the use of whoever is on duty. It only takes a few minutes to get a good Blighty, George (referring to George Curtis, formerly of the Bulletin staff, who went over with the 22nd) will get it to carry.

At 11 p.m.—I am doing my trick at the phone now, 9:30—12:30. In the past fifteen minutes Heinie has put over about a dozen shrapnel, some of which exploded directly overhead. Here come some more—four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, all pretty close (3 more), but a mile is as good as a mile. Our machine guns are pumping a stream of lead all along the line, just to remind them that we are here.

Boys in Good Spirits
I took a run "down street" (it really is a street, although badly torn up) after supper to see George. All the boys are in good spirits and view it all as a picnic, but George says the Hun have a good time on the line and pound away at the wavy now and again. Just between our cellars is a 15 in. "dug" and, believe me, I'd hate for and it made a real nice bed. I am sitting on a big patch of it now, writing on a box and the little birds are fairly bursting with song. They don't notice the artillery a trifle. The ever-watchful aeroplanes are soaring in the blue and the old observation balloons are riding lazily at the end of their cables. I saw my first air-fight the other day, about six planes being engaged. It was too far away to pick-out machines out, but the rattle of M. guns could be heard. One Hun plane had to make a quick dive behind his own lines.

Earlier in the afternoon one of our balloons was brought down in flames by a plane.

Ge, I have been lucky lately, mail almost every night. Watch those five franc notes fly when I hit a canteen. Now that I am here I can say what is most acceptable in the line of eats. We get enough sugar and milk, so send the straight cocoa and can you get a little G.V. instant coffee. Sardines are good and of course, cake, too. But really the grub is excellent and we get along fine. I don't need anything in the line of clothes during the summer, thanks.

All I attempt from the line is letters home and to the boys in the other drafts. Any others will have to wait. All the boys you know are safe and well and those with us send regards.

GROUARD BOY TELLS OF LIFE AT THE FRONT

Pte. Hugh McDermott Was Wounded, But Is Back Again In Fighting.

GROUARD, Aug. 17.—The following interesting letter was received recently by Wm. Gardner from Pte. Hugh McDermott written from "Somewhere in France."

This is 2 a.m. and rather chilly and lonely. There is plenty of noise for a while. The whistles are flying real carelessly and earlier in the night some heavier shells dropped on us. Oh, she's a good life!

July 15.—We were in the line for seven days and then came out for a day. But after two days went in at a different place and stayed only 24 hours. Then came out here to reserves and I believe we are going back further to the horse lines for a few days. It is open country here and has seen much fighting, judging by the trenches. We are living in old German dugouts now and they sure are a bunch of them. I imagine this was an old support line and there is a dugout every few feet and big ones, too. There are many things of interest to be seen—the effect of shell-fire on trenches and wire and on German concrete M.G. emplacements, etc. Close here is a sniper's post, a most ingenious and safe contrivance, made of three layers of wire and having six loop-holes. It is round and only about three feet high, mounted on a concrete base and is reached by a steel ladder from the dugout underneath. One can see all the way to the horizon from here, but they are all too cumbersome for me.

Most of Originals Gone.
This battalion was raised in Calgary quite some time ago and most of the originals are gone. There are drafts, or men, from about six battalions in it now, including 137th, 151st, 152nd, 153rd and 154th. I watched a French girl making lace one day and it was a marvel the way she juggled about sixteen bobbins, and it was cheap, too—only a few francs per meter. On our next rest I will get some more.

It rained last night but is now sunny with a nice breeze blowing. It is open country here and there are a lot of flowers. What a relief when there are no parades and no shining to do. We slept until 11:30, rather chilly with no blanket or great coat. We will get the letter from our packs in a day or so. I carried a big armful of clover down into the dugout.

For such is life in the Army.

When we were new soldiers, unused to drill, they gave us big pistols to pack at will. But though we have cleaned them and kept them from dirt, they have taken them from us for fear we get hurt—For such is the way of the Army.

Oh, when we were still upon Canada's shores, We thought cleaning buttons would never win wars; But now all this money they give us to use, Is invested in Brasco, instead of in booze—For such is the way of the Army.

It occurred to our foolish and juvenile mind, That the steel work on harness should never be shined; But now we know things have been otherwise planned, And a trooper who's lacking in grit or in sand, Can never get on in the Army.

We once sported cavalry boots that were nice, From our own private incomes we paid out the price; But alack! they have issued us puttees again—And are making us walk like the infantry men—The regular steps of the Army.

We used to walk out with a swaggering air, And fine nicked spurs (such as officers wear); But all fine spurs now are under a ban, For the plain steel belongs to the soldiering men—Who is only a "buck" in the Army.

Long since we went out on an exercise ride, With our loose khaki shirts all unbuckled quite wide; But now every button our tunics must show, And we pack our smoke-helmets wherever we go—For such is the rule of the Army.

Oh, poor old "A" squadron, they call us that now, There's one consolation we all must allow, They make take all our marks of distinction away, But the General wills that the Steatons shall stay—As long as we stay in the Army.

"Oh, what did you do, Daddy, old in the War?" Oh, hush, child, I served in a Cavalry Corps." And tell me the way that you won the V.C." "By wielding a shovel on Hill 63." When I worked like a horse for the Army."

"Oh, yes, dear dad, were your charges most keen?" "Oh, yes, Macherie, we had horses to feed." They were specially keen 'bout the time they were fed. And on grazing parades they were frequently led—For such is the life in the Army."

Oh, kind friend, I prithe, give ear to my lay, And do not depart till you hear what I say. You can trust the old soldier right down to the ground—Could you lend me a franc until pay-day comes round. For once I belonged to the Army.

A Squadron, Canadian Corps Cavalry, Flanders, July 27, 1916.

Pte. Anderson was formerly a member of the city health dept. staff.

Battle Stories From The Western Front

KITE BALLOONS AND OTHER THINGS—BY Z.

"I have been out for five months with a kite balloon section, said one officer. 'Though we go up several thousand yards behind the line, our life is never dull! I have been brought down twice and we are shelled constantly and accurately. The first time I was brought down I had taken up a gunner officer who had never been in a balloon before. We were conducting a nice little shoot for some time, when something, I suppose, made me look up. What I saw gave me the Willies all right. The envelope was crumpling up like a broken banana, and we were dropping like a stone. Then I got busy, very busy. The gunner was cool enough, but he was not at home in a balloon. However, somehow or other, I got him and his parachute over the side, and then over I went myself. For a moment the rush was terrific, and then the parachute blew out and I was all right. The great danger on these occasions is that of being cut off on top of you. After a bit the gunner and I drifted together, so close that I could have shaken him by the hand. I shouted to him and he said he felt quite happy. Then, and none of apart, and I landed quite peacefully in an old Boche trench while he came down 100 yards away. Just as we came to earth the balloon fell with a crash midway between us. It was a very lucky escape. However, the next day I was up again and had the joy of putting the gunners on to a big German convoy. He got his first wound at Ypres. Three months later he was in a lorry, which was hit by a shell and overturned. He got a broken leg out of that. The two months ago he had his arm broken by a piece of shell near Bullecourt."

A big sergeant in a London regiment said that the Boche did him out of £4,000 on the day war was declared, so he made up his mind to get some of it back in kind. He got his first wound at Ypres. Three months later he was in a lorry, which was hit by a shell and overturned. He got a broken leg out of that. The two months ago he had his arm broken by a piece of shell near Bullecourt."

"I was all through the advance and to show how the Boches cleared every one away, I only once saw civilians. It was a very lucky escape. However, the next day I was up again and had the joy of putting the gunners on to a big German convoy. He got his first wound at Ypres. Three months later he was in a lorry, which was hit by a shell and overturned. He got a broken leg out of that. The two months ago he had his arm broken by a piece of shell near Bullecourt."

At Last They've Got the Number of Kaiser William

The title of the emperor of Germany is "Kaiser."

When the war started the Kaiser was 55 years and 6 months old, or 655 months, which again fixes his age. Having established these facts, read from the thirteenth chapter of Revelations, the fourth, fifth, tenth and eighteenth verses as follows:

4.—And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast; they worshipped the beast saying: "Who is like unto the beast, and who is able to make war with him?"

5.—And there was given unto him a mouth speaking wisdom and blasphemies, and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months.

10.—He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity; he that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and faith of the saints.

18.—Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast; for the number of the beast is the number of a man; and his number is six hundred three score and six (666).

War started in August, 1914. And to this date 42 months, and it brings us to February, 1918, when, according to Revelations, the war should end.

"Obey All Commands" First Essential Father Tells His Son

A letter from a parent to his son now with the Second Infantry, encamped at Camp Eaton, Riverside, is one of the most remarkable war documents that has come to the Bulletin office from U. S. sources since the United States has entered the war. It reads as follows:

Person, Ia., July 10, 1917.—Mr. William M. Person, My Dear Son: I will send you four and four months in the Second Iowa Infantry during the civil war. This was one of the best drilled and best disciplined regiments in the service. I thought that with my knowledge and experience as a mentor a few words from me might help you to adjust yourself to your new environment. We come to the war with a new race, quick to express our thoughts, right or wrong. I was taught in the school of experience to keep my mouth shut, "mostly." I never was in the guard house or on extra duty as a punishment. Once I was wrongfully detailed for guard. I told the orderly that I had been detailed out of my turn. He looked at his book and said, "That is so." I made an error, but you will have to go on guard. I said, "I won't," and he replied, "All right, do as you please, you are on guard." I went on guard, and it was a submission to military discipline and was the best thing that could have happened to me. I was never punished for any cause. Without discipline, an army is a mob, with thorough discipline you can accomplish anything that is possible to me. I will now tell you some things to do and some things not to do. It depends on yourself to be a man, and the service can make a man of you to be proud of, or you can destroy your physical, moral and mental life, by giving way to the passions. Don't lose the perfect manhood you now have for the grossness of dissipation. Don't tell the officers over you how to run the regiment or company; don't tell the sergeants or corporals how you would do. Don't take the words out of their

A Calgary V.C.

PRIVATE JOHN GEO. PATTISON, who, when serving with a Calgary unit, won the Victoria Cross for destroying a machine gun crew and for his gallantry in the Vimy Ridge battle.

Truth About the Tanks

Private C. E. Dukes, Bedfordshire Regiment, writes thus to his fiancée, of the tanks:

They can do up the prisoners in bundles like straw-binders, and, in addition, have an adaptation of a printing machine, which enables them to catch the Huns, fold, count and deliver them in quires, every thirteen men being thrown out of a little farther than the others. The tanks can truss refractory prisoners like fowls prepared for cooking, while their equipment renders it possible for them to charge into a crowd of Huns and by shooting out spokes like porcupine quills carry off an opponent on each. Though stuck up the prisoners are, needless to say, by no means proud of their position.

They can chew up barbed wire and turn it into munitions. As they run they slash their tails and clear away trees, houses, howitzers, and anything else in the vicinity. They turn over on their backs and catch live shells in their carter's feet, and they can easily be adapted as submarines; in fact, most of them crossed the Channel in this guise. They loop the loop, travel forwards, sideways and backwards, not only with equal speed but at the same time. They spin round like a top, only far more quickly, dig themselves in, bury themselves, send out a tunnel and come out again ten miles away in half an hour.

There are many other things I might mention; to make yourself useful to your comrades by kindness and courtesy; to your officers by your intelligent obedience to commands; and to never waver or hesitate to do your best. If you obey all commands and never murmur, you have the respect of your officers, and the "esprit de corps" that makes you useful, respected. All officers have great pride in the good soldiers of their commands.

SPRING DAYS WITH CANADIANS

Resume of Work and Fighting of Corps Following Vimy Battle.

PUT AT ROAD BUILDING

Later Operated With the British in Capture of More Enemy Ground.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—A communication from British general headquarters in France as given out by the minister of militia, covering operations of the Canadian corps during April, May and June, 1917, (subsequent to the capture of the Vimy Ridge) is as follows:

"After the enemy's defeat at the Vimy Ridge the German forces opposite the right of the Canadian corps fell back to a strong trench system, known as the 'Oppy-Mercur' line, which ran from Gavrelle, past Oppy, Arleux-en-Gohelle, Fresnoy and Acheville, to Mercur. On the left of the Canadian corps the enemy held the trench line from Gavrelle to the Vimy line in considerable strength. A switch line passing south of Avion connected the two hostile systems into a continuous line of defence from Gavrelle to Mercur."

"These positions were sufficiently formidable to render the further advance of our infantry impossible without adequate artillery preparation and support, to secure which it was necessary to move forward our guns and howitzers and bring up great quantities of ammunition."

"The difficulty of this task was increased by the lack of road communications within the corps' area, due to the natural barrier forward by the ridges. Such roads as existed, moreover, had been partially destroyed by bombardment or by mines fired by the retreating enemy."

"The weather also was unfavorable. For several days following the capture of the Vimy ridge and snow fell abundantly reducing the shell-trench passage to a condition which rendered passage across the open country impossible even for the pack animals."

New Roads Were Made
"To meet these difficulties, large working parties were promptly organized and the concentration and reconstruction of roads was pushed on as rapidly as possible. Between the 9th and 23rd of April more than forty miles of roadway were reconstructed or built. Railways and tramways were carried forward with equal energy."

"The amount of work to be done, however, was very great, and on April 23, when the British armies attacked at the Senes River the destruction of the enemy's wire on the southern portion of the Canadian corps' front had not been completed. On that day, therefore, the action of the Canadian corps was confined to a limited attack on the Senes River, where it was found that the German wire, although cut in many places, was still a sufficient obstacle to delay the advance."

Preparations Hurried
"Though the enemy's trenches were entered on the greater part of the front attacked only a small portion of the ground gained could be maintained."

"During the succeeding days preparations for attack on the Canadian corps front were hurried on unceasingly. Allied with the work on the roads and communications the work on the enemy's defenses was continued by our artillery, new trenches were constructed and the line considerably advanced and improved."

"By the 28th of April the Canadian corps was ready to take part in the attack delivered by the British armies east of Arras on the morning of that day."

Veterans of Vimy
"The Canadian Corps of the Canadian corps consisted of Arleux-en-Gohelle and the German trench system west of the village known as the Arleux loop. The attacking troops were ordered to advance to a definite line east of the village and there consolidate a position in preparation for further operations."

"The attack was launched at 4:45 a.m. and, in spite of determined resistance on the part of the German infantry, the whole of the enemy's trench line was successfully captured."

"Our Objectives Gained."
"The fighting took place in Arleux, but the garrison of the village was gradually overcome and our objectives gained. By the evening our line east of Arleux had been established in accordance with our plan, consolidating an advance to a maximum depth of 1,400 yards on a front of nearly 3,000 yards."

"Very heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy and 372 prisoners were captured. A hostile counter-attack at 8:30 p.m. was driven back by our artillery and machine gun fire."
